New Home Sales Rebound; Prices Crush Previous Record

The report on May new home sales, released this morning, paints a much brighter picture than last month's release of April data. In that report, the U.S. Census Bureau and the Department of Housing and Urban Development said new home sales had dropped 11.4 percent from their March level, to a seasonally adjusted annual rate of 569,000 units. Today that rate was revised up to 593,000.

May sales improved on that report. They were up by 2.9 percent from April to a seasonally adjusted estimate of 610,000, cracking the 600,000 mark for only the fourth time since the housing crisis began. Sales are now 8.9 percent higher than in May 2016 when the estimate was 560,000. On a non-seasonally adjusted basis, sales in May were 1,000 units higher than in April, at 58,000.

May's annual rate of sales was at the high end of expectations. Analysts polled by Econoday had been looking for results in the range of 575,000 to 615,000 units. The consensus was 590,000.

The median sales price in May was $345,800 and the average was $406,400. A year earlier the respective prices were $296,000 and $350,000. This crushes the previous record of $332,700 and also represents a record increase in the year-over-year change (+16.8% vs May 2016's median price of $296,000).
